Project Management Mentoring

Mentoring begins where classroom training leaves off. It is the process of partnering a WISDM project management expert with a sponsor and/or project manager to provide guidance during a project.

Our mentors work throughout the life of a project, or during a specific project phase, event, or process. They can guide a relatively inexperienced project manager through the basics and prevent mis-steps. Even experienced sponsors and project managers sometimes need to consult about complex and tough issues. Mentoring protects an organization's investment and is especially effective for strategic or high-risk projects.

Our clients have used our mentors during project initiation, requirements gathering, development and deployment of a communication plan, team building, vendor selection and post-implementation review.

We can also help sponsors and project managers in using a project management framework, task analysis, key phase oversight and key process oversight.

WISDM will match your sponsor and project manager to a mentor with complimentary skills and experience. Together, this team will ensure project success.
